TRADING STAMPS.

New Enterprise Opened In the City This Week.

Stand In Hotel Latham—Red Trading Stamps Will Be Given as a Cash Discount.

The Citizens Trading Stamp Co., of Bowling Green, Ky., is a new enterprise that will on to-morrow open its doors for business in one of the Hotel Latham stores, on Virginia street.

It will be under the management of Mr. A. E. Whittemore, and the plan is described as follows in the books to be issued by the merchants interested:

"The object of this business is to encourage spot cash trade, whereby both the buyer and the seller are benefited. By trading with merchants interested you will be given a Citizens' Red Trading Stamp for each and every ten cents represented in a cash purchase. For example if you buy 10 cents worth of goods, you will receive one Citizens' Red Trading Stamp; if your bill amounts to $1.00 you will receive 10 stamps, etc.

You will only receive stamps on spot cash purchases, as the stamp is given as a cash discount only, and is supposed not only to cover the cash discount to which you are entitled, but also to save book-keeping and collecting. Should you have an article charged, even for one day, you are not entitled to the stamp, and the merchant who gives stamps on weekly or monthly accounts, not only does himself an injustice, but destroys the main feature of the business—Cash.

We have premiums for one-half book of red stamps, one, two, three books, etc. When your book is full or half full, you are entitled to one of the many articles constantly exhibited in our store, where you will always be cordially welcomed. Ask for trading stamps. As a rule merchants do not give them unless called for."

The directories containing blanks to be filled up with the stamps which can be obtained at the store.

Remember if you trade only with merchants who give the Citizens Red Trading Stamps, your books will soon be full.

The system is now being operated in all of the principal cities of the United States.

Mr. A. E. Whittemore, the manager, comes from Bowling Green, with the best of endorsements as a reliable and straight-forward business man and a clever gentleman.

He invites the people to call and become acquainted with his system and receive a full explanation of his methods of business.

MARRIED IN TEXAS.

Prominent Merchant Surprises His Friends.

News has been received of the marriage of Frank M. Quarles and Mrs. Anna L. Peay. The ceremony was performed Thursday morning at the home of the bride's brother, Mr. R. E. Lewis, in Ennis, Tex. Mr. Quarles left Hopkinsville last week professedly for a business visit to Bowling Green, and his acquaintances had no intimation of the real nature of his trip. The bride is the widow of the late Hon. Austin Peay and is a lady of great culture and intelligence. Mr. Quarles is a leading Main street merchant and one of the most highly esteemed citizens of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Quarles will reach home this week and reside in the groom's home on South Main street.

Railroad Shops Burned.

The I. C. railroad Company's car shops, general foreman's office and supply house at Central City were destroyed by fire Friday night. The loss is estimated at about $10,000.

BAIL REFUSED.

Culton Remanded to Bail Until September.

Much Sensational Evidence Brought Out in the Examination Last Week.

Frankfort, Ky., May 5.—At the conclusion of the argument on the motion for bail for W. H. Culton, charged with being an accessory in the murder of Gov. Wm. Goebel, tonight, Judge Cantrill denied the application and Culton was remanded to jail.

In rendering his decision, Judge Cantrill said that the uncontradicted evidence on some of the points in the case left the court no recourse but to refuse the defendant's application for bail.

Culton's trial will come up at the regular September term of court. The trials of the other accused prisoners will be held at Georgetown.

J. B. Matthews was recalled by the defense to-day and testified that telegrams signed by George Denny, of Lexington, and filed immediately after the assassination, were sent to seven persons in different parts of the State, saying that the riot had commenced and told the receivers to send different numbers of men to Frankfort at once, aggregating about 2000 rioters.

Telegrams sent or received by parties indicted for the assassination were produced and read and filed by agreement of both sides.

Duane Sinclair, of the Postal Company, testified that on the morning of the assassination he sent a number of telegrams to commanders of two Kentucky regiments, which only said, "All right" and were signed by Adj. Gen. Collier.

An Unknown Man.

Constable Davis Harrod stated that he saw an unknown man run out of the Secretary of State's office and run down into the basement a few moments after the shot was fired.

F. Wharton Golden presented a number of letters from Gov. Taylor to Golden in which the former pledged him his support. They were read. Golden then went over the testimony given in the examining trial.

Golden gave some additions to his former testimony. Among them was a statement that Culton said the man who killed Goebel was so drunk he could hardly stand up. Another was that Caleb Powers told him on the day before the assassination that the best way to kill Goebel would be to start an argument in the Capitol Hotel and kill him there. Powers said Taylor would pardon the assassin.

At the afternoon session, Wharton Golden told again about Youtsey getting the key to the Secretary of State's office from John Powers, and he said that John Powers told him two negroes had been brought here to kill Goebel.

On cross-examination, Golden testified that ex-Secretary Finley said if the contest was not stopped, "Goebel and his gang would be killed." Golden replied: "I am with you in that."

Killing Predicted.

Witness heard people around the State House say that Goebel would be killed if the contest was not stopped.

When asked if he was not testifying because he had been promised immunity, Golden stated that T. C. Campbell said he would do all he could for him.

George R. Hemphill, clerk in Secretary of State Powers' office, followed Golden. He saw Youtsey in the office Saturday before the assassination with a rifle. Hemphill said Youtsey came into the room a minute or two after the shots. Witness heard Sheriff Burton (now deceased) threaten to kill Goebel several times.

In rebuttal, Culton denied that he had a consultation with Golden in regard to the condition of the man who killed Goebel. He did not know who fired the shot and denied Miss Jackson's testimony relating to what his wife had said to Miss Jackson about Goebel going to be killed.

The argument of counsel began at 8 o'clock to-night, and at the conclusion Judge Cantrill denied the application for bail.

LARGE CROWD

But Small Sales at Church Hill Friday.

The Grange Sale at Church Hill Friday was in many respects the best one on record. The weather, barring the dust and a little too much wind, was an ideal spring day. The attendance was very large and the dinner was more bountiful than ever. The sales of stock, however, were very small, only 72 head. Those sold brought fancy prices and the sale was finished up in short order. The day was pleasant more for its social features. The new rules insured good order and there was no disorder of any kind in feeding the immense crowd.

The City Council met Friday night. The opening of a street north of Dr. Blakey's lot was the only action taken out of the regular routine.
